KINNEY'S BRIEF DEMOLISHED.

The reply of Governor Frent to the partisan plea of W. A. Kinney JARRING at Washington reads like the judgment of a magistrate overruling the THE WELKIN motion of a fractions and presponsible attorney.

of a Democratic politician, eager on the one side to earn a fee and on latan dispensing pills to cure the nation's grevious ills. I've heard him poor people hundreds of little plants, the other eager to upset a Republican Territorial administration. All ranting, many a time; I've seen him, hourse and gray with grime, stand time trees and packages of seeds and through his plea runs the same vein of misinformation, of trickiness, at a railway coach's door and fill the air with squawk and roar, implored entrings even of pettifogging which was apparent in the first list of charges filed ing people for their votes—a spectacle for gods and goats. Our presiby Kuliio and in the supplemental one which tried to strengthen them, dential candidates should do like other peddling skates and take some injured when the Continental Limited Is it not a fair question whether all three were written by a quill placked sideshow freaks along to play the bones or sing a song, and have a monk train of the Wabash railroad was de from the same goose and is it not conclusive, as the Governor says, that collect the mon when all the noisy show is done. Alas, alas! The good railed near Danville, Ill. one explanation of Kinney's attack is "that it is made on the chance that old days, the sober men, the quiet ways! what would appear absurd at home might be accepted at its face value Copyright, 1912, by George Matthew Adams.

five thousand miles away"

The Kinney plea about the danger of Asiatic political ascendancy here is in point-something which, if true, the Governor is in no way to an elephant and spread all over an acre lot. Kinney must feel like him. blame for. But it is not true as the cabu analysis and statement of the Governor shows. There is no yellow peril here which must become ascendant. The number of Chinese is decreasing; the population of are sent back to Japan and many adult Japanese return there for good Japanese born here and of voting ago, do little voting: Asiatics cannot naturalize; the immigration of other races susceptible of citizenship is there being Asiatic political ascendancy as Mr. Kinney predicts, facts and figures show the probability of a voting Asiatic population then or only 1000 or 1500 voters each of Japanese and Chinese. The Asiatic scare is a mere bugaboo of the kind some lawyers prefer when addressing a jury which is supposed to be far away from other means of information.

But we have no space to point out all the errors or half the humbug in this amazing brief. The readers of the Star have seen the crucial phases of it for themselves, and now they have the privilege of standing ing my reply to Mr. Kinney for pubby and seeing as after demolition.

THE BILLBOARD QUESTION.

Billhoards are not decorative and their too free use is to be deplored. But the law and its opportunities happen to be on their side here and elsewhere, and when anything like a boycott is started against them billboard owners have the right of relief in the Federal and perhaps in the Territorial courts. Some years ago the College club pro- any danger in a time of panic, jected such a movement but was warned off by its legal friends. Any similar aggregation of women might have the same experience. Perhaps the state of the law led to the sudden abandonment of the movement led some mouths ago by one of our ex-governors against the use of a certain auto tire which advertised on billboards. The tire company continues to exercise as legal rights and, indeed, since the boycott episode there has been a marked increase of billboard advertising generally in Honolulu, though Mr. Frazier has had the courtesy to keep it off rural roads when it clearly obstructs a view. But he has as much legal right there as here to hire land for billboard purposes.

About this recurring billboard agitation the Star would sympathize now until we get these bananas registered on the mainland. Perhaps continental travel. with it if it were practicable but it objects to fighting for a cause already tagged and started on their way to the A. A. U. will not be so ready to lost. There is no easier way to waste time and earn defeats than to keep the Coast, calling for action that cannot be lawfully taken. A PRESIDENTIAL SUGGESTION.

In today's mail the Star has received a type-writer style of circular from the White House, signed with the President's printed name, which suggests a central organization of commercial bodies. Its importance is such as to warrant special publication.

The White House, Washington, March 1, 1912. In a message on foreign relations communicated to Congress on Decem- placed a brick in it. ber 7th last, I expressed my belief that it would be of great value to have "some central organization in touch with the associations and chambers of commerce throughout the country, and able to keep purely American inter-terests closely in touch with commercial affairs." This statement was prompted by suggestions that had been made from time to time by the rep- twenty miles an hour. A good strong the country. These suggestions were fully confirmed by the experience of seats. those executive branches of the Government which are more especially charged with measures calculated to develop domestic and foreign com-merce. In the past several attempts have been made to organize commercial bodies upon a national basis, but for one reason or another these efforts have not met with success. One of the great difficulties arose from the fact that none of these general organizations was of a character to make it pos-sible or proper for the Government to recognize it as representative of the commercial and industrial interests of the country. The plan of a broadly representative national organization so proposed by me has met with such response from commercial and industrial organizations in every part of the country that I believe the time is ripe to put it to a test of practical experiment, and I have concluded to take the initiative so as to create the opportunity for full discussion and decision by the delegates of representative (News Originating on the Day the organizations.

It is not my intention to define the purposes of such an organization, or indeed in any manner to anticipate the scope of the discussion upon which such delegates may conclude to enter; but it appears to me to be obvious manded the resignation of Ray Baker, tions, that such an organization must be instrumental in a very large field to aid the "uplift" warden of the state's and assist the executive and legislative branches of government in the intelligent and impartial development of domestic and foreign trade.
